KNOW SOMETHING ABOUT US

RaCeRS also distributes a line of wireless headphones in both on-ear and over-ear form factors. Its headphones are marketed under the company's RaCeRS undiscounted prices range between ₹2,990 (~$39) and ₹7,990 (~$105) depending on the model and its features.

Like other wireless headphones, RaCeR's devices do not connect to an audio source via wire or cable. Its devices feature Bluetooth connectivity to play audio from the audio source (such as a mobile phone, computer, or stereo system). In wireless playback mode over Bluetooth, RaCeR's headphones draw power from lithium ion batteries which are integrated into the headphones.

Many of RaCeR's wireless headphones come with an auxiliary audio cable that can plug into standard headphone jacks (or other audio jacks using adapters, which aren't included). On many models, connecting headphones to an audio source using the auxiliary audio cable does not draw down battery charge.
